

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A connector housing (H) is provided with cavities (C) into which male terminal fittings (10) are insertable from behind. The connector housing (H) is divided into an inner housing (20) and an outer housing (50) into which the inner housing (20) is mountable from front. The outer housing (50) is provided with a receiving portion (59) engageable with a lock (35) in the inner housing (20) to hold undetachably the inner housing (20). A locking surface (59a) of the receiving portion (59) engageable with the lock (35) is exposed backward to outside through the cavity (C).